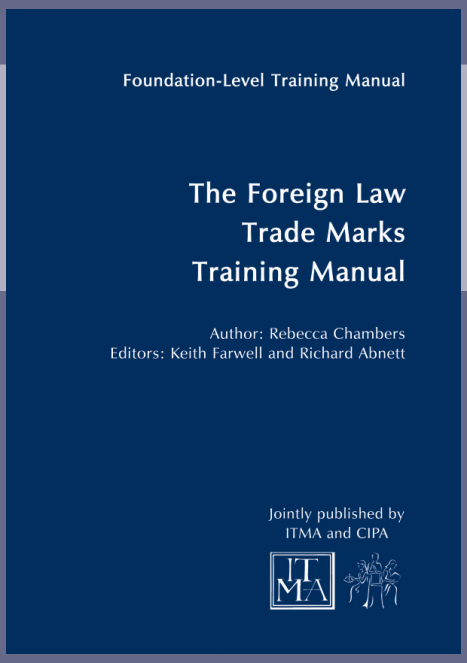
The Foreign Law Trade Marks Training Manual

This manual has been designed to give you a basic introduction to the law and practice relating to trade marks in commercially significant countries, and in particular, those areas where the law or practice of the law differ significantly from the UK.



The manual is designed primarily for those who are new to the trade marks profession, but who have some basic knowledge of the law and practice relating to trade marks. Before you start this manual, you should already have completed the UK Trade Marks Training Manual (2006), which is also available from CIPA. This manual assumes that you are already familiar with the areas of law and practice, as well as terminology, which are covered there.

We also strongly recommend that you have already worked through the other training manuals covering the Community Trade Mark and Madrid systems, as we do not cover these here.
